INTRODUCTORY.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE TOWN OF ENFIELD,

GENTLEMEN:

The time has arrived when, in accordance with law, it is our duty to present you the customary annual town report

You will find therein detailed statements of all the various items of expenditure for the fiscal year, beginning February 15, 1906, and ending February 15, 1907.

We trust you will read it with great care so you may know the exact condition of the finances of the town.

As expected the expenditures during the past year have been large, but much has been done.

Kind Providence has showered its blessings on our people and the town has been spared the many calamities that have caused great disasters in a number of localities. Labor has been plenty and wages high. Unprecedented progress has been inaugurated upon permanent lines, and let us hope that it bespeaks much more for the near future.

We cannot too strongly urge you in your efforts and generosity in behalf of the schools of the town. Nowhere else can you invest money at higher interest, for the moral and mental development of the masses is of greater importance than the cultivation of the soil.

We wish to extend the thanks of the town to the Boston and Maine railroad for its share in the town improvements in the way of a new depot and for the gift of 14 car loads of coal cinders to grade the new depot street, also to Mr. Geo. E. Whitney and others for their generous contributions towards repairing the village streets.

We have also tried to advertise Enfield as a summer resort, and have placed many desirable properties on Mascoma lake and in other parts of the town, in the hands of a New York and Boston bureau.

Few towns in New Hampshire possess more desirable natural attractions to commend them to tourists, we think.

But thus far the scenic beauties of the town have practically remained unknown to the outside world. Our state is reaping annually a rich harvest along this line. We could do likewise, if we would do our part. Let us beautify our town (which ought to be dear to us all) and strangers will instinctively come within our borders. It is worth the trying. Our native love of home and country should lead us to do all we can to make our resources known to others.

We desire to extend our thanks to all the citizens for their hearty co-operation and their many kind acts to us during the year, and we assure them of our high appreciation.

We are yours respectfully,

HENRY E. LENNON	} Selectmen of Enfield.
GEO. H. COLE

Trustee's Report

In submitting this, the sixth annual report of the Free Public Town Library, we take pleasure to note the continued interest that exists throughout the town. This interest is shown in many ways, but is chiefly noticeable in the greater and more general use being made of the books. In spite of the fact of the Library being closed for six weeks by the Board of Health, the number of books issued is almost as great as last year; and the number of persons taking books is considerably larger than ever before.

The number of books is slowly but steadily on the increase. Whole number is 3,355. We trust the town will continue to be liberal with the library.

We would again call attention to the fact that we have a very good library for a town of the size of Enfield; and we invite all citizens to avail themselves of its advantages. Books do little good unless used.

We have allowed the summer resident population to use the books, and will continue the same liberal policy in the future.

We tender thanks to all who have contributed books, pictures, etc. And we suggest that we still have room, and hope and trust others may follow so worthy an example.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools
ENFIELD, N. H.

The State Department of Public Instruction, in enumerating the duties of the District Superintendent gives the following as one of his chief duties: He will work out a suitable course of study based on scientific principles, with full teaching outlines, or still better bring into effective use the Program of Studies for the Common Schools of New Hampshire. In explanation the State Superintendent says:

"Now, it is just as impossible to build up a system of efficient schools without such a definite working plan, as it would be to build a fine dwelling house or factory without plans and specifications. One of the worst, if not the worst, defects in many of our local school systems is that they begin nowhere and so of course end nowhere.

Teaching is haphazard, and, of course, learning is vague and uncertain and confused. The use of a course of study is the foundation remedy of such a state of things. But, a course of study isn't of much value unless it is followed. Experience shows that teachers will not follow a course properly, or not follow it at all, unless there is a superintendent at hand, to instruct them and to hold them to their work: any more than a crew of mechanics, be they ever so skillful, will follow a set of plans and specifications without a foreman to direct."

The work of the past year has been largely that of organization. We have endeavored to classify our pupils in grades so that they could follow to best advantage the work as planned by the State course.

At the beginning of the year we found in some schools that there was a lack of uniformity in the school work, that while excellent results were being secured in many subjects, these subjects were being selected according to the preferences of either the teachers or the pupils. Under such conditions it is found, with but few exceptions, that two very important courses, History and Language, are neglected. "History," says one of our well-known educators, "is probably the most important course in the program of studies, save the mother tongue alone. Upon it are based all the later studies which have to do with the understanding of man in his social and political relations; and especially is it, more than any other formal study of the common school, the basis of an understanding of the duties of citizenship. School boards are advised that ample time and apparatus should be given to history."

This does not mean that we under-estimate the value of the three R's. They should form the basis of school work. The use of the three R's, being necessary to a full comprehension of other forms of training, are recognized by the pupil as most necessary accomplishments, and the NEW STUDIES, so called, possess an added interest and value, and so instead of diminishing the standard of instruction in the good old subjects they act as stimulants thereto and really produce the same results that the opponent to the modern ideas of education desires, an improvement in the teaching of reading, writing and arithmetic.

Your attention is called to the following comparisons:

School	Per cent. Attendance	Per cent. Attendance
	Fall Term 1905.	Fall Term 1906.
Potato Hill	83.00	100.00
Montcalm	89.50	91.95
George Hill	91.10	93.31
East Hill	89.73	91.88
Lockehaven	89.32	91.66

Per cent. of attendance shows the regularity of attendance of the pupils, and the above comparisons show conclusively, we believe, that the parents and pupils are taking a deeper interest in the schools. This is most encouraging.

We can look back, we trust, over the work of the past year with some degree of satisfaction, for commendable progress has been made. Especially would we mention the work in reading, history and language, but we cannot see the fullest results in these and the other subjects in one, or two years' time, but when the pupils who are members now of our lower grades have been graduated then one can see what has really been accomplished.

I wish to thank at this time the parents and citizens for the deep interest which they have manifested in the schools, the members of the school board for their hearty co-operation, the teachers for their faithfulness and friendly support, and the pupils for the diligence shown in their work.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS A. ROBERTS, Superintendent
